Nanking, Yesterday.

The Municipal Kuomintang has sent a petition to the Central Executive Committee urging the expulsion of General Feng Yu-shiang from the Kuomintang and the issuance of a punitive decree against him.

Describing General Feng as the nation's enemy the petition states that he, under the pretext of anti-Japanese activities, illegally ousted Government officials from Changhai, killed and arrested Kuomintang members there and allied himself with Communists and reactionaries.

The text of the petition has been telegraphed to Kuomintang branches and public bodies throughout the country whose support is requested.—Reuter.

The same spokesman revealed that General Yen wired Chiang Kai-shek stating that during these critical times he would always agree to any measure taken for the benefit of the country as a whole.—Reuter.

The most important delegation already here is the United States group, headed by Mr. William Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State.

The luxury hotels, where the richer delegations have put up, are gaily adorned with flowers and growing plants, both inside and out.

Fashionable shops are similarly brightened, and flags of many nations are in evidence.

ALTERNATIVE PLAN TO PAY IN SILVER

WOULD ENTAIL SAVING OF £7,000,000

U.S. TO URGE REHABILITATION OF SILVER AT CONFERENCE

LONDON, YESTERDAY.

ACCORDING TO THE NEWSPAPERS, THE CABINET HAS TENTATIVELY DECIDED TO OFFER THE UNITED STATES A TOKEN PAYMENT OF £2,000,000 ON ACCOUNT FOR THE WAR DEBT INSTALMENT DUE ON JUNE 15.

In the event of President Roosevelt declining the offer, the "Morning Post" declares that the British Government are likely to avail themselves of the right, recently accorded by the United States Congress to pay in silver, which will entail a payment of only £12,000,000 instead of £19,000,000 due.

The Washington correspondent of the "Morning Post" states that it is held here that the Indian Government still has 400,000,000 ounces of silver ready to dump on the market. This could be secured by the British Government and shipped to Washington.

THE AMERICAN DELEGATION TO THE WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE WILL ADVOCATE A NUMBER OF MEASURES FOR THE REHABILITATION OF SILVER, INCLUDING THE REMONETISATION OF DEBASED SILVER COINS, THE ELIMINATION OF RESTRICTIONS ON INTERNATIONAL MOVEMENTS OF SILVER, THE OPTIONAL USE OF SILVER AS A PERCENTAGE OF GOLD COVER, AND AGREEMENTS REGULATING THE SUPPLY OF SILVER ON THE WORLD MARKET.—REUTER.

The White House, it is stated, has not been informed of any arbitration pact understanding between the United States and Japan.

It is authoritatively stated here that the understandings reached between President Roosevelt and Viscount K. Ishii, the Japanese delegate, at the recent conversations in Washington, did not include an arbitration pact.—Reuter.

Earlier messages from Tokyo stated that it is understood that a general Arbitration Treaty will be signed between Japan and America, as a sequel to the conversations.

AMERICANS ARRIVE.

The American delegation, headed by the United States Secretary of State, Mr. William Cordell Hull, has arrived in London.

Other members are, Senator Key Pittman, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Mr. James M. Cox, one-time Democratic Presidential candidate, Congressman Sam D. McTernolds of Tennessee, and Senator Couzens of Michigan.

Throughout the proceedings, the Conference will publish their own newspaper, which in addition to rendering an official account of the proceedings, will announce forthcoming business. The first issue is published to-day.

The British Cabinet, after a meeting on Friday failed to reach a definite decision regarding Britain's payment.

COLONY'S WATER SUPPLY

Greater Than That On June 1, 1932.

STORAGE FIGURES

Owing to the heavy rains of the past two weeks, the Colony's water storage at present is greater by approximately 46,000,000 gallons, than it was at this period of last year.

The increase, however, is shown in the impounds on the mainland, the Island figures being lower than they were on June 1, last year.

The total water storage in the Island reservoirs on June 1 was 474.08 million gallons, as compared with 519.90 million gallons last year. The total consumption per head, per day, during the month of May, was 10.1 million gallons as compared with 17.8 million gallons in May, 1932.

The mainland reservoirs show a greater storage with a total of 220.65 million gallons as compared with 185.86 million gallons last year.

The total rainfall from January 1 to May 31, 1933, was 8.026 inches as compared with 10.945 inches in the corresponding period last year.

EXCITEMENT IN GREECE

Sequel To Attack On M. Venizelos.

GOVERNMENT TO TAKE FIRM ACTION

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Athens, Yesterday.

Considerable excitement is noticeable in Opposition circles, following the arrest, by the Surete, yesterday, of officials suspected of being concerned in the attempted assassination of M. Venizelos, the former Greek premier, according to a semi-official Greek news agency. The Greek Government has reinforced its severe methods for maintaining order, and the Premier, M. Tsaldaris, has ordered that those implicated in the attempted assassination must be apprehended, no matter how highly placed they are.

The outrage occurred when M. Venizelos was returning to Athens from Kiphissia, on the night of June 6. A man fired into the car in which M. Venizelos was riding together with his wife.

Madame Venizelos and the chauffeur were wounded, but M. Venizelos was unhurt.

HOW BANKERS EVADED U.S. INCOME TAX

Surprising Evidence At Morgan Enquiry.

MR. MORGAN DEFENDS FAVOURED CLIENT PRACTICE

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Washington, Yesterday.

A deal in shares, with his wife, which reduced his taxable income in 1930, to $314,807 was yesterday described by Mr. Thomas Lamont, a junior partner in Messrs. J. P. Morgan and Company, at the United States Senate Committee's continued enquiry into the firm's affairs.

Mr. Lamont said that he offered 5,000 assorted shares in the open market, which he had bought for his wife with money borrowed from him. Later, he re-purchased the shares at the purchase price.

Mr. Harold Stanley, another partner in Messrs. Morgan and Company, testified that he sold stock to his wife at a loss of $512,858, which he deducted from his taxable income under the provision of the law permitting the retention of capital losses.

This evidence was given on the enquiry which the House of Representatives Committee is making into this aspect of the income tax law.

Mr. J. P. Morgan, in a statement, declared that his firm defended the practice of selling stock to selected clients, and he criticised the publication of the lists on the ground that it brought "unjust criticism" upon his customers.

Many prominent names figure in the list of favoured customers, of the world-known private banking house. Among them are, Mr. William H. Woodin, United States Treasury Secretary, Mr. Norman Davis, United States Envoy to the Disarmament Conference, and Colonel Charles Lindbergh.

MR. DEBUCHI TO BE RECALLED.

Japanese Ambassador To America.

Tokyo, Yesterday.

Japanese Press reports state that Mr. Debuchi, Japanese Ambassador to Washington, is to be recalled.

Mr. Matsukata, ex-President of the Kawasaki Dockyard Company is mentioned as the most likely successor.

It is reported that Mr. Matsukata, former Chief Japanese delegate to the League of Nations, was offered the post, but declined.—Reuter.

CHINA'S TARIFF CHANGES.

No Representations From Japan.

Nanking, Yesterday.

Official circles here categorically deny that Mr. Ariyoshi, Japanese Minister to China who is visiting Nanking in a private capacity, so far, had made any representations in regard to the Chinese tariff changes.

It is emphasized that Japan has no business to interfere with China's exercise of her right in tariff autonomy.—Reuter.

BRIDGE NOTES

When Systems Break Down.

The Rocks of Distribution.

(By A. E. MANNING FOSTER)

VARIOUS systems for determining the trick-making capacity of the high cards held are presented to us, and they have undoubtedly fascinated many players. We are taught that the possession of four-and-a-half quick tricks or honour tricks (the terms are not exactly the same, but are near enough) will produce the odd trick. Five honour tricks will yield eight tricks or two odd. Five-and-a-half will produce eight or nine, and seven-and-a-half or eight are sufficient for the bidding of a little slam.

Now this is a rough and ready reckoning which may be useful if applied with intelligence. But at the best it is only "rough and ready." It is not by any means always correct, and it is subject to numerous exceptions. The calculations only hold when the distribution is favourable. In practice, one finds the distribution frequently unfavourable. The pessimist will say always unfavourable.

The player who relies implicitly upon any mathematical formula for calculating the trick-making capacity of his cards will often come to grief. Distribution must be considered. Take, for example, this hand: S., A, K, 5, 2; H., A, K, 3; D., K, 6, 4; C., 9, 8, 6. Here we have a hand with four-and-a-half honour or quick tricks which, with a worthless or unsuitable Dummy, might easily not produce even the odd trick. Yet a player would be pusillanimous indeed who would not bid "One Spade" upon it.

Now let us give the Declarer and Dummy five quick tricks between them:—

Y
Spades: 7, 6
Hearts: 9, 5, 6, 3
Diamonds: A, K, 8
Clubs: 10, 7, 6, 3

Z
Spades: A, K, 5, 2
Hearts: A, 7, 4
Diamonds: 9, 6, 3
Clubs: 8, 4, 2

Here the odd trick cannot be made in Spades or No-Trumps.

The possession by the joint hands of eight quick tricks is, we are told, sufficient to justify the bid of little slam. Is it?

Y
Hearts: 7, 5, 4
Spades: 8, 4, 2
Diamonds: A, K, 6, 5
Clubs: 9, 6, 4

Z
Spades: A, K, 5
Hearts: A, K, 6, 3
Diamonds: 8, 7, 3
Clubs: A, K, 7

In spite of eight quick tricks, game at No-Trumps could be made only if a thirteenth card in Hearts or Diamonds could be established, while game from love score in Hearts or Diamonds would be impossible. Now alter it a very little:—

Y
Spades: 8, 4
Hearts: 7, 5, 4, 2
Diamonds: A, K, 6, 5
Clubs: 9, 6, 4

Z
Spades: A, K, 5
Hearts: A, K, 6, 3
Diamonds: 8, 7, 3
Clubs: A, K, 7

Here game in Hearts or in No-Trumps is certain if the adverse Hearts are distributed three and two. But a slam is unattainable. It will be seen, therefore, that a distribution of the pattern 4-3-3-3, in the hands of Declarer and Dummy, is the least favourable for a suit declaration.

It is not even the ideal distribution for a No-Trumper. The reason

TENDERS FOR LOCAL WORKS.

Botanical And Forestry Quarters.

Tenders have been invited for the construction of Botanical and Forestry Quarters and Store at Litchikok, the tenders to be received at the Colonial (Secretary's) Office not later than June 26, 1933.

Tenders are also invited for the maintenance, repair and minor extensions and alterations of Water Works in the Colony, during a period of one year from September 1, 1933 to August 31, 1934. Another tender, for work on Sewers, Drains and Nullahs in the Colony over the same period, is invited.

Tenders for the work of re-surfacing Tai Po Road from Tai Wai level crossing in the direction of Tai Po are to be received not later than June 28, 1933.

Kowloon Tong Recreation Ground. The Government are inviting tenders for work of levelling and turning the site, and erection of Shelter, Latrine and Playground Equipment, together with all contingent works, for the proposed Kowloon Tong Recreation ground.

Tenders are to be received not later than Tuesday, June 27, 1933.

H.E. THE GOVERNOR.

Recovers From Recent Illness.

His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel, K.C.M.G., K.B.E., who has been suffering from influenza with some bronchitis has now recovered.

KOWLOON TIMEBALL

The Timeball on Signal Hill, Kowloon will be discontinued after 3 p.m. on Friday June 30, according to a notice in the Government Gazette from the Director of the Royal Observatory.

that it is supposed to be so is that with this pattern the probability is that the same number of tricks can be won either in a suit or in No-Trumps. And as fewer numbers of tricks are required for game at No-Trumps, it is better to play it in that declaration.

As an extreme illustration, showing how distribution defies all quick trick calculations, consider the following:—

Y
Spades: 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2
Hearts: None
Diamonds: None
Clubs: 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2

Z
Spades: A, J, 10, 9, 8
Hearts: 9, 8, 7, 4
Diamonds: 7, 6, 5, 2
Clubs: None

A
Spades: Q
Hearts: A, K, Q, 10
Diamonds: A, K, Q, J
Clubs: A, K, Q, 10

B
Spades: K
Hearts: J, 6, 5, 3, 2
Diamonds: 10, 9, 8, 4, 3
Clubs: J, 9

Here Z Y have only one and a half honour tricks between them. Yet Z can make a grand slam in Spades, whereas A and B can make only a small slam in Hearts or Diamonds. This is not presented as an actual hand from play, but is invented to demonstrate possibilities. If it occurred—and it is not impossible—it is unlikely that Z and Y would bid at all.

But suppose that Z, greatly daring, did open the bidding with "One Spade," and Y supported him up to, say, a small slam against Hearts, called by A and B, is it not certain that A would double? Of course he would. In fact, he would be likely to double before the bidding reached "Six Spades."

BRINGING UP FATHER.

Mainly Women

MASCULINE TREND SHOWN

A Revolution In Paris Fashions.

PERHAPS the most interesting feature of the present season is the sudden enthusiasm shown in tailored and mannish fashions.

In many of the recent showings, this type of thing has quite pushed into the background the more feminine sort of costume which has dominated the mode for several seasons past.

If the sudden flare of interest can be trusted we shall see less of clinging Victorian beauties, and a great deal more of smartly tailored charming masculine young women.

New Mode.

The younger houses in Paris, such as Lyolend, strongly favour this mode, and are showing some decidedly clever costumes certain to appeal to the youthful clientele to which they consciously cater.

Certain London houses, which hold a firm place in the affections of the woman who has always had leanings toward the British sort of crisp well-cut woollens, are also making much of the new mode.

In fact, it seems safe to say that the new masculine element introduced this spring comes as close to being a revolution in fashion, as anything that has come into being since the famous waistline revolt of 1929.

It remains to be seen whether women as a whole will accept the new trend, or whether they will remain faithful to the feminine away of recent years.

Paris Salons Seek Novelty

Big Dressmakers Hunt For Something New.

PARIS—It begins to look like the Big Dressmakers have been nosing around in cellars, attics and those out of the way places where people dump things to get them out of sight—in an effort to find that "something new under the sun" that fashion-minded women of the world are ever demanding.

They have been successful, however in turning to the obvious simplicity under their very noses—making novelty belts, for instance, out of rope, weaving and crocheting jackets, coats and whole costumes out of string—just plain

Scarves Match Wool Caps

Tam O'Shanter's Popular.

FOR Summer there are tam o'shanter caps of crocheted macramé, with matching collars and cuffs. These caps are to be worn high at the back and pulled well forward over one eye. A close-fitting collar of finely pleated organdie in two or three tiers will brighten a dark dress. The neckline is high and fastened with a small bow or ends in soft falls of the materials.

For sports corduroy and light woollen caps continue to be worn with matching scarves. Later on hats of pique and natural linen will be worn with matching coats over light woollen dresses.

Leather Sports Belts

An Amusing Jacket Suit Accessory.

LARGE leather sports belts, made of half tubes and encrusted with coloured leather stripes, match slip-on bracelets.

Helm is launching wool scarf, blouses having knitted white roll collars that resemble a scarf when held in the hand, but which wrap around into a conventional looking blouse—an amusing jacket suit accessory recommended for week-ending.

LADIES!

With the approaching of years, you should give more and particular attention to the three most valuable assets of your beauty: — your EYES, CHIN and NECK. While you are radiantly lovely, the menace of the years passes by unnoticed; but that is the correct time to prepare against the ravages of increasing age. — that sagging of the muscles, dulling of the eyes and wrinkling which ruin a woman's glory.

NOW is the TIME to consult a BEAUTY SPECIALIST of note, Mademoiselle Tamara of "LOUIS" SALOON will be pleased to explain to you how and in what way you can overcome the difficulties of retaining your beauty by simple and natural principles.

London Predicts Suit Season

STRIKING COLOUR CONTRASTS LIKELY

THERE are many signs that this will be a suit season and that there will be a great variety of blouses, jumpers, and accessories.

Contrasts of colour are likely to be striking. Light coloured blouses and printed silks will be worn with dark suits, and dark colours and even black with pastel shades. With the fashionable shades of grey and oatmeal there are blouses of navy, vivid green, and pillar-box red.

Bold Plaids For Blouses

New Trend For Informal Wear.

LINEN tweeds and the new ginghams in bold plaid and check designs look well for simple blouses with small turn-down collars and short raglan sleeves with narrow turn-back cuffs, the neck being finished with a large bow to be worn outside. An afternoon blouse of coarse string lace cut on these lines has lace-covered buttons and a large lace bow as its only trimming.

Plaid taffetas and crepe satin and crepe-de-chine are cut on classic lines, but crinkled organdie, muslin, and shirred chiffon are trimmed with drawn thread work and tiny pleated ruffles. With severely tailored lacquered evening suits there are elaborate blouses of lace or of lame cut to tunic length.

There will also be strong contrasts in materials. Woollen materials make plain tailored shirts to be worn with shantung or linen suits, or more frequently, there are heavy linen collars, cuffs, or even sleeves on woollen dresses.

SPORTS PYJAMAS

SPORTS evening frocks have evidently inspired the sports pyjamas made of White kasha. These are plainly cut, with fairly wide trousers, which fasten with round buttons on the hips.

Mesh Fabrics For Sport

Soft Colours Are Popular.

MESH fabrics are used in many of the active sports things, usually with simple neckline and some new version of the easy moving short sleeve. Page yellow, soft pinks, blues that flatter eyes of the same hue, pastel greens and some grays are to be had. Usually these pastel dresses take no contrast to make them effective. They just are!

LIONEL ROZA PEREIRA IN GREAT FORM

Three Successes In V.R.C. Gala.

OZORIO'S PROMISING DEBUT

Lionel Roza-Pereira, the Colony's most versatile swimmer, was in great form last night at the V.R.C.'s first aquatic gala of the season. In addition to winning the 100 Yards Members "A" Class event in the excellent time of 60 3/5 secs—within three-fifths of a second of the record—he won the Diving, and his team carried off the Relay.

A large crowd was present including Commodore H. R. Marrack D. S. C., and party, and a very fine evening's entertainment was concluded by dancing to the strains of "Fred and his Pals" band.

The members 100 Yards "A" Class event, the star item on the programme, was very keenly contested, despite the absence of S. V. Gittins, and Ed da Roza. Gittins is on his way to Amoy and the latter was unfortunate to contract a cold at the last moment.

H. Ozorio, who received four seconds in his first big race, swam very well to lead the field. L. Roza-Pereira kept close to W. Lawrence all the way, and on the final turn the trio fought out every inch of the last length before Roza-Pereira just managed to win by a touch with Lawrence and Ozorio dead-heating for second place.

In the "B" Class event A. A. Roza improved by six seconds on his handicap time.

L. Roza-Pereira also carried off the honours in the High Diving event. Edward Roza, the Colony champion, was not able to compete owing to a strained neck. His brother, L. Roza, was a good second.

The Members' team-race proved an exciting event which ended in a close victory for L. Roza-Pereira's team. L. Roza-Pereira fought out the last 50 yards in a thrilling struggle with T. L. Padgett to win by a touch.

The water polo game resulted in a draw of 2 games all, after a very even struggle. Rodrigues scored both goals for the Whites, and Ambrose and L. Roza-Pereira scored for the Blues.

The following were the teams:
Whites: H. M. de V. Soares, Leo Silva, S. E. Sousa, H. M. Rodrigues (Capt.), Rodrigues, A. A. Roza and C. Roza Pereira.
Blues: J. J. Smith, L. Roza Pereira (Capt.), P. W. Ambrose, A. A. Gutierrez, N. Delgado, E. L. Gossain and T. L. Knight.

THE TOTALISATOR'S DERBY RECORD

London, June 1.
A record for the totalisator in England was established at Epsom on the Derby on Wednesday. The betting reached £26,950. The previous best was in 1932 on the Hunt Cup, when the amount reached was £19,662.—Reuter.

LARWOOD NOT TO BOWL

Operation On Foot At End Of Season.

ENGLAND SELECTORS LOOK AHEAD

To Endeavour To Retain County Place As A Batman

London, Yesterday.
The leg theory, or "body-line" bowling, is not likely to trouble English county batsmen this season.

Harold Larwood, its author, who brought down a storm on his head in Australia, is not to bowl again this season.

This announcement was made in Nottingham to-day.

Larwood, who sustained an injured foot in the last Test match at Sydney, is to undergo an operation at the end of the season in order to enable him to play against Australia in the Test matches next year.

The most talked of fast bowler in the annals of cricket hopes, however, to retain his place in the Notts team as a batsman for the remainder of the season.

It will be recalled that in the fifth Test in Australia Larwood scored 98 as the result of enterprising batting. Last season he averaged 18.04 for Notts, but he was then concentrating on his bowling in an endeavour to secure a place in the M.C.C. touring side.

When Larwood arrived in England specialists declared that his foot would recover after a brief spell, and this was the cause for Arthur Carr's optimistic remark regarding Notts winning the County Championship. It is indeed a sorry blow to Notts, who have secured only 38 points out of a possible 120 in their eight matches to date.—Reuter.

INDIA'S DAVIS CUP DILEMMA

Practically Barred By Unforeseen Difficulty In New Rules.

London, June 3.
India is faced with an entirely new problem in the Davis Cup competition, and one which evidently has not been anticipated.

There has been established a new qualifying competition and only the four nations qualifying for semi-finals this year will be passed forward to challenge for the Davis Cup next year. All other competing nations will have to play off during July and August in the new qualifying competition, and then only the four semi-finalists will pass forward to compete in the 1934 Davis Cup competition.

This year, India unfortunately has been compelled to scratch her Davis Cup entry, owing to her inability to raise a team for Europe during 1933. This default not only puts India out of the Davis Cup for 1933 but also bars her from challenging in 1934, for the reason that she will not be either a semi-finalist this year or a qualifying nation in the preliminary competition. Further, under the present rules, India never again can hope to challenge for the Davis Cup unless she can send to Europe her Davis Cup team for two years in succession.

India's immediate dilemma this year may be South Africa's misfortune next season and Japan's the year after.—Reuter.

KOWLOON C.C. LOSE BOTH GAMES

BOWLING GREEN LEADING IN TWO DIVISIONS

ECCLESHELL'S RINK SCORES SEVEN

IN spite of Craighower's double success yesterday the Kowloon Bowling Green are still leading in both divisions of the Lawn Bowls League.

The Civil Service were the only other team to record two wins. The Recreio second string lost to the Yacht Club by a narrow margin, while the K.C.C. juniors suffered the fate of their seniors. The Police, the only other team with dual interests, went down heavily in the junior division before the Civil Servants while their premier team recorded a meritorious win at Taikoo.

S. Eccleshall's rink (T. Hunter, L. Whant and H. Westlake) recorded the highest score on one head yesterday. Against J. S. Riddell's rink they recorded a 7 at the 15th head to record a win by 19 shots. This feat has only been bettered in the last five years by W. S. Drake's rink who recorded an 8, also against a Police second team rink, as recently as May 13.

Four other skips were responsible for six scores. Neil Drummond had a 6 at the 20th end to enable his rink to win by 23-22 against W. Mair's. A six at the 9th end paved the way for L. Guy's triumph over J. C. Brown by 26 to 20. R. Basa and F. X. M. Silva also recorded sixes, but both rinks went down. Basa's rink pulled up from 21-11 down to 21-17 at the 19th end, but they lost 23-19, while Silva's quartette, after a six at the second head, were beaten by R. P. Phillips' rink by 22-16.

HONG KONG AMERICANS TRIUMPH

South China Lose 5-1 in First Game.

UPROAR FOLLOWS COLLISION ON SECOND BASE

Sir Shou Son Chow Pitches First Ball Of Season

(By Homer).

Only a small crowd witnessed the Hong Kong Baseball Club's triumph by 5 to 1 over the South China Athletic Association in the first league match of the season at Caroline Hill yesterday afternoon.

Sir Shou-son Chow officially opened the season when he very sportingly pitched the first ball of the match.

The Chinese batted first, but were completely puzzled by Heubner's deadly pitching. Three players were dismissed in quick succession for a blank score.

Biggs, opened for the Club, but took a walk to the first base, being hit after the second ball. Terry Leonard also took a walk, but Gilson placed the ball nicely in the outfield. Terry moved to second, but the team was dismissed without scoring when Zafra struck out.

The Chinese second innings was again fruitless and lasted but a few minutes. Heubner was again responsible for accurate pitching. The Chinese pitcher, however, got his own back in the next innings, for the Club batsmen came and went in quick succession, for another blank score.

The First Big Hit.
In the Chinese third innings, E. Chang registered the first big hit, for which he was rewarded a two-bagger. Matty Chang, however, failed to bring his man home. The score sheet was still blank.

In the Club third innings, Biggs was struck out and Barros hit a poor flyer to be caught. T. Leonard was caught nicely by Henry Young in the outfield and the team was out.

Heubner was brilliant in the Chinese fourth innings. Two men were struck out and the third failed to reach the first base.

THE BASE INCIDENT

In the Club fourth innings, Wright hit a stinger but Kim stopped it and beat Wright to the base. Zafra came up for the second time, but again failed. He was off form yesterday. Heubner got to the first base, but David Leonard failed him and the team were again dismissed.

The Chinese fifth innings again proved fruitless, four men visiting the box in quick succession.

Billy Chang, who learned his pitching in Japan, took over the ball against the Club in their fifth innings, and it was then that the Club scored. Shank got to first base, and Gilson hit well. Biggs followed to move to first base and Barros followed him there.

After this hit, Biggs, who was on second base, collided with the Chinese third base in trying to steal a base.

Then followed an uproar. The Club appealed for "interference," and claimed that Biggs should be given an extra base. (This would have brought him home.) Matty Chang wouldn't hear of it, and after much discussion, won the issue. Biggs remained on third base.

Another Dispute.
David Leonard followed to make a two-base hit, and Biggs and Barros had an easy run home. Matty again set up an objection and maintained that Barros could only move to third base from the first base. But the referee did not hesitate, and Barros' run was counted.

TO-DAY'S GAME
South China will play the Lingnam University in a league match to-day at Caroline Hill at 2.30 p.m.

SIRDAR RUMJAHN, Colony tennis champion, will not be seen against the Philippines stars to-day. His place has been filled by A. E. P. Guest.

FILIPINO TENNIS STARS AT THE K.C.C.

Three Exhibition Games This Afternoon.

GUEST'S DISTINCTION

Leonardo Gavila and Leodegario Polintan, the Philippines' tennis stars, will again be seen in action this afternoon when they will be featured in three exhibition games at the Kowloon Cricket Club, commencing at 4 p.m.

The programme is as follows:
Toul Wai Pui (C.R.C.) v. Gavila.
A. E. P. Guest (K.C.C.) v. Polintan.
H. D. Rumjahn and E. C. Fincher v. Gavila and Polintan.

Sirdar Rumjahn was to have played, but he was unavoidably forced to stand down, thus enabling Guest, the K.C.C. No. 2 player, to play in his first exhibition game.

It is unfortunate that Guest is not in the best of health at the present moment, otherwise he might have been able to make good use of this splendid opportunity. His stoniness, however, will cause Polintan much anxiety.

Gavila, the National champion of the Philippines and Inter-Collegiate champion, played against Sirdar Rumjahn, the Colony champion, on the H.K.C.C. courts last Thursday. He gave a splendid display to take the first set at 6-4, but then grew careless before an improving Rumjahn to drop the second set at 7-5.

Very Promising Player.

He is a fine tactician and an entertaining type of player who never becomes rattled at a run of misfortune. At the age of 18 he is quite the most promising player seen in Hong Kong.

Polintan defeated Tsui Wai Pui by 6-3, 6-3 on Thursday, but he was fortunate to meet the Chinese player on one of his off days. Possessing a powerful forehand, he is, unlike Gavila, weak on his backhand which is primarily a defensive stroke. He is only 20.

Gavila and Polintan were finalists in the National Doubles Championship of the Philippines.

Last Thursday they made a brilliant second set recovery to beat the Rumjahn cousins, holders of the Colony title since 1925, by 7-5 after being 5-2 in arrears. They lost the first set at 6-8. They will meet a new combination in H. D. Rumjahn and Teddy Fincher this afternoon, and any difficulties they may encounter on a soft court in the singles will be overcome by volleying duels in the doubles match. It should be a good match with the balance slightly in favour of the visitors.

On Thursday both players were handicapped by the soft state of the court—they are players used to clay and hard-court tennis. The K.C.C. courts will probably be in even a softer state.

An entrance fee of $1.00 will be charged for the exhibition.

SCHREUDER AND FOWLER IN STIRRING RACE

Thrilling Finishes In "Y" Aquatic Gala.

MISS J. SHOOSMITH WINS LADIES' EVENT

W. Schreuder, skipper of the "Y's" first Water-polo team, and G. Fowler, last night engaged in a thrilling swimming duel in the Scratch 100 Yards Breast Stroke at the Y. M. C. A.'s second gala of the season.

Fowler took the lead in the first length and held it by a few inches all the way to the middle of the fourth length, when, in "taking a mouthful," he was forced to concede a stroke to Schreuder, who swept past to win by a small margin.

Mr. F. H. Crapnell, a Director of the Y. M. C. A., and Mr. T. H. King, Deputy Inspector General of Police, were among those who witnessed the swimming events.

Although the entries were not as large as in the May Gala, last night's events were very representative, the Ladies' race and the Novelty race being the only two events which failed to draw large entries.

Mrs. Schreuder, one of the "Y's" finest lady swimmers was unfortunately unable to enter through illness, while Mrs. McMahon was also an absentee.

Last night's team race was the most exciting seen for a long time. Although Rallion's team took the lead through Aris, Donn's team fought hard to regain the small deficit, the final two swimmers being separated by only a couple of feet at the finish. It was a well-deserved win for Rallion's team.

The 25 Yards Underwater race was very closely contested between Chadderton, R. Goldman and Fullager.

Chadderton Fortunate.
Goldman led up to the three quarter mark and then swerved right over to the right hand side of the bath, obstructing Fullager who might have gained second place, thus giving Chadderton the lead and a win by a touch.

The handicapping in the third heat of the 50 Yards Aggregate Handicap was extraordinarily good.

All four entrants turned on the wall one after the other, and in the middle of the second length were neck and neck. A spurt by Fullager and Torrible saw these two gain the first and second places respectively. (Continued on Page 11.)

Beer through the ages THE GRAND TOUR 1750

WHEN, in the 18th century, a young gentleman set off with his tutor to make the "Grand Tour," among the monument of luggage carried in the boot of his travelling coach there was a cask of beer . . . Roads were rough in those days and journeys long, and English people had for generations pinned their faith on the nourishing and sustaining qualities of good malt liquor . . . Beer was the Englishman's drink and he carried it with him when he went abroad.

The Four Power Pact.

SELDOM have any international negotiations been so shrouded in mystery and secrecy and rarely has any agreement been as vaguely worded as the Four Power Pact just initiated in Rome. The actual phraseology of the Pact makes it appear innocuous and there is no apparent justification for the grandiloquent expressions which accompanied its conclusion. Obviously the real meaning of the agreement is hidden but it is difficult to comprehend the reason for secrecy. The lack of animation in the reception accorded the Pact in London and the Government's haste to issue an assurance "that Britain's adherence does not imply any extension of Britain's obligations in European affairs" indicate that the Pact is of small concern to Britain. Similarly, the reluctant participation of Germany and the cold, almost hostile reaction in Berlin, reveal that it possesses small intimate significance to Germany. The logical deduction, therefore, is that France and Italy are the principal parties concerned, and M. Daladier's statement to the French Assembly on Friday night, "that the Pact marks the end of the misunderstandings that had for so long separated the two great Latin nations" confirms that view. Of the various interpretations that can be made, the most probable are, firstly, that the Pact is a masterly stroke of diplomacy by Signor Mussolini to prevent Italy from becoming involved in a clash between Germany and France; and secondly, that the Pact constitutes a compromise effected in order to save the Disarmament Conference from utter collapse. Mussolini has studiously avoided any unnecessary friction with France despite the tension between the two countries — a tension which has been lately accentuated by increasing rivalry in Northern Africa. Much speculation has existed for some years concerning Italy's foreign policy but M. Duce has always succeeded in cloaking his designs, and, apart from recurring friction with the Balkan nations, he has kept Italy singularly free from international complications. The advent of the Fascist regime in Germany, however, forced Mussolini's hand and he has resorted to diplomacy in the form of the Four Power Pact. Hitler's overtures were embarrassing at this period and the Italian Dictator has saved the situation without giving any grievous offence to either Germany or France, although Hitler will not appreciate this mild rebuff. As for the Disarmament Conference, it has long been recognized that the nations are not prepared to disarm, and it would have collapsed long ago but for Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's strenuous efforts and America's insistence on a peaceful Europe. The proximity of the World Economic Conference and the necessity for providing some tangible inducement for American war debt concessions made some form of Disarmament compromise imperative.

Although Mr. MacDonald, during his famous flying visit to Rome, had much to do with instituting the Pact, Britain's only interest in the agreement can be attributed to her general desire to see peace maintained in Europe. The Pact is of much more vital concern to the other signatories and may have been more aptly styled a Three Power Pact. The authorship is plainly Mussolini's and the reason for it was mainly to effect some form of truce between Germany, France and Italy. It is rather ironic that on the day following the initialing of the Pact another Three Power Conference, this time between Britain, France and the United States, took place in Paris. The conferences are interminable — and futile — but a more genuine spirit has been evinced in the preliminary arrangements for the World Economic Conference, from which a weary world hopes for so much. Disarmament and war debt negotiations are to be continued, concurrently with the Economic Conference deliberations, and through bargaining some real progress may be accomplished towards solving the world's diverse but inter-related problems. The onus now rests with the United States. Britain has failed to persuade the other nations to disarm with her, but America, the world's creditor nation, may succeed through using her commanding position to dictate international policy. The Four Power Pact, merely reiterating the terms of existing Peace Pacts and Treaties, has advanced the cause of Disarmament not at all, but at least it has eased the tension (which was of a most threatening aspect) between France and her two Fascist neighbours. Even if the present importance of the Pact may seem almost negligible its potential value is enormous.

STRANGE ITEMS IN WORLD'S NEWS

Buy Turkish Campaign
Spreads To Priests.

TWO COWS IN ONE

Some of the strange items in the world's news, reported by Reuter correspondents are:—

A torpedo which cost £2,500 was fired during practice off Melbourne by H.M.S. Australia—and has never been seen since. It is believed to have sunk in 50 fathoms of water.

A cow named Flora which a cattle-dealer has brought to Paris has four horns, four nostrils, two tongues, and two backbones, which join at the tail.

She also has three eyes and an X-ray photograph has revealed the presence of two brains, which act independently.

Flora had a calf recently, which presented exactly the same characteristics, but it died soon after birth.

An M.P. put a question to a Minister in the Prague Chamber of Deputies several months ago. Now the question has been answered, but in the meantime the M.P. has died.

When walking close to a meat wagon, which was travelling at a fair speed, Henry Howard, aged 66, was struck on the head by the leg of a dead bullock which was protruding from the side. His skull was fractured.

Turkish ecclesiastical authorities have ordered priests to have their gowns made of Angora alpaca instead of foreign material.

This is the latest development in the "Buy Turkish" campaign which has been modelled on that of the "Buy British" movement.—Reuter.

O.T.C. SYSTEM FOR CHILE.

British Methods To Be Followed.

Santiago, Chile.
The British Officers' Training Corps system is to be adopted in Chilean schools, as a first step in the abolition of conscripted service.

The British system was chosen after careful studies were made of military training methods in the United States and several European countries.

"By this means," the military Commission has explained, "citizens can receive military training in the schools and afterwards their conscripted service can be so reduced as to lessen the burden on the individual and the State."

Military economies in this year's budget will be made as a result of the new system. It has been announced that the army will be reduced by 132 officers, including six generals.—Reuter.

KEEPING WOMEN IN THEIR PLACES.

Hitler Frowns On Female Workers.

Berlin.
"Woman's place is in the home" is one of the slogans of the Nazi movement in Germany. The modern bachelor girl, working along with men in business and professional circles, is to receive no encouragement from Chancellor Hitler. This standpoint was made clear by Dr. Goebbels, the new Minister of Propaganda.

"Woman's place," he said, "is in the family; her proper task is to provide her country and her people with children. It will be the Government's duty so to revolutionize the status of woman that she can once again fulfil her most important national functions."

"The liberation of woman is a danger to the State. She must leave to man the things that belong to man." — Reuter.

LONDON TOPICS

from
OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

May 10.

Locum Tenens.

Before Sir Percy Greenaway, the Lord Mayor of London, set off on his Easter holiday, which he spent on Dartmoor, he had to sign a document appointing, not a deputy, but a Lord Mayor locum tenens, "to be from time to time for me and in my stead."

For at no time is the City of London without a Lord Mayor. Like the King, he never dies, although, strangely enough, the Chief Magistrate of the previous year is not the "ex," but the "late" Lord Mayor.

The document has to be signed and sealed, and is held during the Lord Mayor's absence by the Town Clerk, and the term locum tenens has been applied to the acting Lord Mayor for over 600 years.

Settled in London.

Capt. and Mrs. Woolf Barnato are now installed in their new London home at the south-east corner of Grosvenor-square.

By acquiring the lease of the adjoining flat, formerly the property of the late Capt. Glen Kidston, and carrying out a conversion, Capt. Barnato has been able to make a delightful ground-floor apartment, with ample accommodation, including nurseries, for his wife and infant son.

Some of the furnishing has been done with salvage—alas, very small—from the ruins of Ardenrun Hall, his country house which was completely destroyed by fire shortly before the birth of his son.

This young man was recently baptised in London, in accordance with the religion of Mrs. Barnato's family, whose home is in Utah, and has been given the Christian names of Peter Woolf.

The site of the memorial to Lord Oxford and Asquith in Westminster Abbey is exercising the thoughts of the authorities.

The choice, it is understood, lies between the Lady Margaret Chapel, which is in the south aisle of the Chapel of Henry VII., and the north transept, which is popularly known as Statesmen's Corner.

The latter would seem to be the obvious place; but, on the other hand, Lady Margaret's Chapel is already adorned with memorials to Lord Milner and Lord Curzon.

In the north transept there is certainly no room for any more monuments, and there are no really prominent positions where a tablet could be erected.

Lord Riddell's War Diary.

There is coincidence in the fact that Messrs. Ivor Nicholson and Watson, of London, who have secured Mr. Lloyd George's memoirs of the Great War, are also to publish shortly the war diary of Lord Riddell.

The two men were very closely associated during the war, and Lord Riddell's material should be both rich and entertaining.

Lord Riddell has always been interested in books. Indeed, he owes to literature a great stroke of luck in his early days.

A Lucky Dip.

As a poor young solicitor he was serving a writ on a man. Having accepted the writ, the man began to show Mr. Riddell his treasures. He had some engravings.

He opened his fine chiffonier to show its exquisite workmanship. Mr. Riddell's interest was aroused by a bundle of papers lying in a drawer. "What's that?" he asked.

"Those," said the man, "are the folios of Dickens's 'All the Year Round.' Unfortunately two numbers are missing. Otherwise I could sell the lot for £5 apiece."

Next day Mr. Riddell was strolling down Endell-street. He stopped to glance at an old bookshop. A box of odd sixpenny lots he saw something which looked like the folios he had seen the day before. It was, in fact, a set of ten copies of two missing numbers. He bought them; went to the man on whom he had served a writ, and sold them to him for £100.

Police Surgeons at Play.
At the annual dinner of the Metropolitan Police Surgeons' Association, held recently many interesting subjects were discussed, next birthday comes round.

and the most interesting was that of the tests for drunkenness applied to motorists.

Dr. H. J. Cardale, talking of verbal tests, humorously suggested two new tongue-twisters. One was the reply of a workman at the docks when asked by an old lady what he was doing to the holes in the ship: "We are copper-bottoming them."

The second concerned a man who had bought five packets of Smith's Crisps in a shop. He then decided to buy the "sixth Smith's Crisps." Even the assembled surgeons, whose feasting, I need hardly say, had been of an extremely temperate character, found it almost impossible to pronounce that one.

A Zig-Zag Experiment.

Another surgeon told of an occasion when he decided that instead of making the suspected "drunk" walk the usual straight line he would try a new test. He began to draw a zig-zag line across the floor of the charge-room.

The suspect, leaning against the wall, watched these preparations in silence for a few moments, then exclaimed: "Why, damn it, man, you're drunk yourself!"

A Famous Family.

Dr. Leonard Huxley, who recently died, was best known to the younger generation as the son of a famous father and the father of brilliant sons. By his own life of his father, the great scientist, which was published over 30 years ago, was a very considerable achievement.

In private life Dr. Huxley was a delightful, erudite but somewhat rambling conversationalist. (There is a character in his son Aldous's novel, "Antic Hay," which is a recognisable portrait of him—the father of Gumbrell, the hero of the novel.)

Aldous and Julian were brought up near Godalming. Their mother ran a girls' school there; and their father was a master at Charterhouse.

Julian revealed his biological bent at an early age, by keeping pet snakes. On one occasion while returning from Guildford with a fresh collection he allowed them to escape, and for days afterwards travellers were terrified by the sudden appearance of large but actually harmless reptiles from under their seats.

The King's Rhinoceros.

The young Indian rhinoceros which the King recently presented to the Zoo is a very rare animal itself, and a cousin of the rarest living mammal, rhinoceros Sondaicus, of which not more than three or four specimens are believed to exist.

An expert says that the probable market price of the Zoo's new inhabitant is about £1000. The Zoo actually paid a thousand guineas for the first rhinoceros it ever had, in 1834.

The animal market is extremely speculative.

Blue budgerigars fell in price from £150 to £2 10s. a pair in a few years when European breeding started. Lions used to fetch £300. Many specimens are now quoted at £50, and an old lioness went recently for £4 10s.

Peter Pan Is 73.

Sir James Barrie, unlike his most famous creation, is definitely growing up. He was 73 recently.

He retains many of the Puckish qualities of Peter Pan. He can waggle his ears or throw a postage stamp up to the ceiling, and make it stick there, accomplishments that Peter would be proud to possess.

Sir James, like most Scotsmen, seems to be happiest when he is in London, and that is where the birthday was spent. Hundreds of telegrams and letters poured into his flat in Adelphi-terrace, that solitary top floor retreat, which is reached by a tiny lift that he works himself.

If Sir James keeps Press cuttings, then it is just possible that he will spend a day of remorse counting the number of times that the word "whimsical" has been used to describe him or his books and plays, an occupation which would keep him busy until the next birthday comes round.

Lane, Crawford Ltd. Pay No Dividend Substantial Decrease In Turnover

NET PROFIT OF $47,105 LAST YEAR

The Directors' recommendation for the payment of no dividend to the shareholders of Messrs. Lane, Crawford, for the year ending February 28, 1933, was adopted at the annual meeting held yesterday morning.

The Chairman, Mr. M. H. Turner, in his report, stressed the necessity of consolidating the Company's financial position, and stated that the net profit for the year amounted to $47,105.70. There had been a considerable decrease in turnover for the year, he declared.

The Chairman said: Profit and Loss Account: In explanation of the reduction of working profit as compared with last year, I have to advise you that the Company suffered a substantial decrease in turnover. This regrettable falling off reflects the depressed trading conditions which existed throughout the year under review; as you are aware, the spending capacity of the public is naturally restricted until such time as the existing economic conditions are dispelled. I would also point out that the Company is meeting severe competition in practically every branch of its business.

The Item—Profit on Exchange—represents the adjustment of sterling accounts current between our office here and our London Agents.

The balance of $7,124.63 at credit of interest account arises through the employment during the year of the Company's general funds in financing the property side of our business. The bulk of interest received, therefore, is earned on what may be regarded as an internal loan and the corresponding charge, together with mortgage interest, is borne by property revenue account, which in turn is absorbed in general working.

Expenditure on repairs and renewals shows an increase this year of about $4,000, which is almost entirely accounted for by expenses incurred in redecorating the Exchange Restaurant and Lounge, and new private dining room.

Other items in the profit and loss account present no unusual feature, and do not call for any particular comment.

I propose to deal with depreciation when referring to items in the balance sheet.

$19,000 Storage Plant. Turning to the Balance Sheet: The fixed assets of the Company, after taking into account additions and sales during the year, and providing for Depreciation, amount to $2,545,046.50.

The only addition calling for explanation is that appearing under the heading of bakery and cold storage plant. This increase of some $19,000 represents the cost of installing a new cold storage plant to meet the requirements of our provisions department, and to provide extra space for carrying stocks of butter. I will refer to this again when reporting on the activities of departments.

Sales during the year, you will note, include the amount received for the Company's Launch "Elate," which was disposed of in the early part of 1932. With regard to depreciation, ample provision has been made.

The Company's properties—Exchange Building and No. 15, Burrows Street, the bakery and cold storage plant, fixtures and fittings, restaurant utensils, etc., have been depreciated in accordance with the usual practice. Motor Trucks have been written down by 25 per cent.

Stocks have been valued at cost, and depreciated where necessary. The amount of stock this year is lower by $47,126.82.

Sundry debtors show a reduction of $76,795.05 as compared with the previous year.

Mortgage Payment. On the other side of the balance sheet you will notice that a further payment of $150,000 has been made towards liquidation of the mortgage on the Company's property, Exchange Building, reducing the liability to $2,100,000. The total of sundry creditors is less this year by $25,980.65.

As will be seen, the net profit for the year, after making due allowance for depreciation, amounts to $47,105.70, which, added to the balance brought forward from last year, makes the amount $66,288.85 available for appropriation.

Your directors recommend that this amount be allocated as follows:—To place to general reserve $50,000, to place to reserve for bad and doubtful debts $5,000; to carry forward to next account $11,288.85. I would state that your directors consider the placing of $50,000 to reserve a sound policy, in view of the present unsettled condition of trade. As a result of the transfer, our general reserve will stand at $250,000.

The provision of a reserve for bad and doubtful debts is a necessary precaution in a business such as ours, and I feel sure you will agree with the policy of your directors in placing $5,000 to such reserve. Considering the extent of the Company's business, it is a matter for congratulation that the amount required is so small. By this transfer, the bad and doubtful debt reserve will amount to $5,314.04, which is considered adequate.

Your directors find themselves unable to recommend payment of a dividend.

Year's Progress. In April 1932 a new lighting system was installed, and the uniform lighting has effected a marked improvement in the appearance of the Store, and also added to the attractiveness of displays in our various departments.

During the year your Company has maintained its reputation for supplying highest quality merchandise throughout all departments. This, however, does not mean that our prices are also the highest. We are only too conscious of the severe competition we have to contend with nowadays, and, while we refuse to meet this competition by lowering our standard of quality, we do meet it by selling a good article at a really competitive price.

Our buyers in London, Paris, and New York, continue to keep us well posted with the latest styles and novelties, and in our Ladies' Salon especially this up-to-dateness is greatly appreciated by our clientele.

Our Furnishing Department continues to maintain its position, and is, we venture to state unequalled in the Colony. A considerable amount of "tender" work for ships, hotels, and offices was satisfactorily carried out during the past year.

We are strictly adhering to the principle of supplying only the best and freshest commodities in our grocery and provisions department, and the increased cold storage space erected during the year ensures the keeping of perishable goods in excellent condition in all seasons.

In November last year we were appointed sole distributors for the world renowned "Anchor" Brand Butter, and this branch of our provisions department gives every indication of becoming a remunerative source of revenue.

King's Restaurant Interest. The Restaurant and bakery departments suffered greatly increased competition during the year, and in consequence of small returns from the King's Restaurant, your Board decided to discontinue acting as caterers there and concentrate on maintaining the popularity of Exchange Restaurant. The Company's interest in the King's Restaurant ceased on March 31 last, and it is satisfactory to note that Exchange Restaurant receipts are on the upward trend.

We have continued to improve our bakery department, and the bread and cakes produced from Empire flours, are of the highest standard.

Our branch depot in Nathan Road, Kowloon, where supplies of bread, cakes, groceries and provision, may be obtained, is now remaining open until 7 p.m. for the convenience of our customers on the Peninsula, and returns indicate that our efforts in this direction are appreciated.

Other departments are continuing to secure a good share of the Colony's business, and we are fortunate in holding several excellent agencies.

The Colony has not suffered so

COLONY'S NEW BUS SERVICES

To-day's Change-Over In Management.

KOWLOON TIME-TABLES UNALTERED

With the local bus services under new management as from to-day, several changes have been incorporated.

The China Motor Bus Company which now controls all routes in Hong Kong, except the Repulse Bay Hotel service, has decided to issue a monthly ticket of $10 available for all five routes, with the exception of the Aberdeen run.

These five routes are:—Tai Hang-Kennedy Town; Blake Pier-University (via Garden Road); Blake Pier-University (via Queen's Road); Blake Pier-Happy Valley and Blake Pier-Tai Koo. The fare on the latter service will be reduced from 20 cents to 10 cents.

In handing over their Kowloon routes, the China Motor Bus Company retained 10 of their smaller buses (formerly on the Kowloon Tong service) which have been fitted out as a one-class section and taken to Hong Kong via the Vehicular Ferry.

The China Motor Bus Company has taken over 29 vehicles in all from the Hong Kong Tramway for which they paid $260,000. Of this number eight were taken over from the Hong Kong Tramway Company at a price of $50,000, while seven buses on the Aberdeen service cost $30,000.

In Kowloon. The manager of the Kowloon Motor Bus Company, in an interview with the Sunday Herald yesterday, said that the change over in Kowloon had gone down without a hitch. Thirty-five buses were taken from the China Motor Bus Company and 26 from the Kai Tak Company.

No price of sale could be stated at the moment as the accounts were not settled. Many employees of both old companies were now in the employ of the Kowloon Motor Bus Company, and the time-tables of the various routes are to remain unaltered.

GOLF A SELFISH GAME.

Does Not Develop The "Team Spirit."

London.

Golf is a selfish game—according to Dr. A. P. Cawadins. He told the conference on New Ideals in Education at Oxford that: "Rugby in my opinion is the best game to develop the team spirit, and I think golf is the worst."

Dr. Cawadins went on to say that golf was very good for the middle-aged who wanted to retain something of their flexibility of movement, and to learn to keep their tempers. "But," he declared, "it is really a selfish game, and I do not think we should let young people develop with it." —Reuter.

INDIAN TROOPS FAREWELLED.

70 Soldiers Return To Calcutta.

A contingent of 70 Indian soldiers from the Jat Regiment, Mule Corps and H.K. and S. Brigade, R.A., left for Calcutta on the a.s. Tilawa, yesterday morning.

A large crowd of Indian troops gathered at the Star Ferry wharf to give them a send-off as they left for the liner, and in accordance with the old Indian custom the departing soldiers were brightly flowered laurels around their necks.

Four Indian officers left with the draft, including Subadar-Major Shah Zaman Khan, who holds the King's commission of Honorary Lieutenant.

As many places and countries, and I see no reason why, when the much discussed cycle of prosperity does eventually, we in this Colony, should not immediately participate. So far as our Company is concerned, it is the opinion of your Directors that every department of the business is in a position to take immediate advantage of any improvement in trading conditions.

The adoption of the report and accounts was seconded and carried unanimously.

WHEN HIGHLANDERS WORE "BREEKS."

Statues Show Evolution Of Dress.

London.

Statuettes carved out of old Scots oak by Mr. C. D. O. Pilkington, famous for his sculpture work in Scotland's Memorial Shrine, show the evolution of Scotch military dress. The figures are part of an exhibition that took place recently in London.

The exhibit shows that at one time the Highlanders wore "breeks." The 1st Battalion once wore grey trousers, as did the ensigns of the Cameron Highlanders in 1815.

The most striking uniform was that worn by private soldiers in the Grenadier company of the 2nd Black Watch. While in India in 1782 they wore tight, fitting white trousers and black spats. The 74th Highland Regiment once wore a white cone-shaped hat almost two feet high.—Reuter.

BRITISH MUSEUM BRIDES.

Well-Known Poet's Daughter To Wed.

London.

It is unusual for romance to come out of the British Museum, but it has done so this year. The Museum is providing two brides.

They are the daughters of Mr. Laurence Binyon, the poet. The eldest, Margaret, is being married to a Mr. Humphrey Higgins, and the younger, Nicolette, to Mr. Basil Gray, the deputy keeper of prints and drawings.

Mr. Binyon himself is retiring this year after 40 years' service at the Museum. He will succeed Mr. T. S. Eliot, in a professorship of poetry at Harvard University.—Reuter.

K.C.C. CONCERT SEASON.

First Function Arranged For June 24.

Many local artistes will be seen at the Kowloon Cricket Club on Saturday, June 24, when the first concert of the season will be held.

The K.C.C. concerts were always among the principal events of the summer season in Kowloon until two years ago, when they were allowed to lapse on account of band concerts being held.

These concerts are now being revived. During the interval, refreshments will be available.

P. I. INDEPENDENCE MISSION LEAVE

Mr. Quezon's Delegation Returns To Manila.

ENTERTAINED BY LOCAL FILIPINO COMMUNITY

At an informal gathering of the local Filipino community on Friday evening at their Club, King's Park, members of the Philippine Independence Mission consisting of the Hon. Manuel L. Quezon, President of the Philippines Senate and Chairman of the Nacionalista (Government) Party, the Hon. Manuel Roxas, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Mr. C. Oles, Mr. R. Fernandez and Judge Tenedor, were entertained.

Professor F. Gonzalez, President of the Filipino Club welcomed the guests. Dr. V. N. Atienza and Mr. T. B. Wilson were also amongst those present.

The members of the Mission after a stay of a week in Hong Kong left yesterday for Manila by the Empress of Japan.

The Mission, which was led by the Hon. Manuel L. Quezon, President of the Philippines Senate and Chairman of the Nacionalista (Government) Party, will, upon its return to the Islands, submit a report to the Legislature regarding the Hawes-Cutting Bill for the independence of the Islands.

Two conflicting opinions regarding the Bill, one in favour of acceptance and the other definitely in favour of rejection, made themselves noticeable during the stay of the Mission in Hong Kong, and it is certain that in addition to the Majority Report, a Minority Report will be submitted to the Philippines Legislature.

The faction in favour of rejection is led by the Hon. Manuel Quezon, while that in favour of acceptance is led by the Hon. Sergio Osmeña, President Pro Tempore of the Philippines Senate, and Vice-Chairman of the Government Party.

MAN WHO CANNOT DIE

Seven Suicide Attempts Fail.

NOW IN PRISON

Belgrade. A Man Who Cannot Die has been arrested by the police of Banjaluka, in Bosnia.

He fled from his home at Banjaluka because he was "wanted" for embezzlement, and when his money gave out he decided to commit suicide.

So he: Climbed on to the top of the train in which he was travelling. When it reached a tunnel which he expected to kill him, his head just passed underneath the roof and he remained unhurt.

Descended to his carriage, put a revolver to his head, and fired. He had forgotten to load it. Fastened a rope round his neck, tied it to the luggage rack and jumped off the seat. The rack broke.

Drank a small bottle of opiate, cut his wrist with a penknife, and jumped through the window. His fall was broken by bushes; he had failed to sever the vein in his wrist, and the "opiate" was only a medicine and not poisonous.

He recovered in hospital, and when the police came to arrest him, rushed from his home and threw himself into the river Vrbas.

The police fished him out and took him to safety—in prison.—Reuter.

The medal is in two sizes: the larger, being 1 1/4 inches in diameter, and may be obtained in gold, silver and bronze.—Reuter.

Memories That Linger Through Life

Man Only Reaps That Which He Sows

HAPPINESS OR REGRET?

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

A MAN once went to a Greek Philosopher and offered, for the sum of five talents of gold, to teach him the art of memory. "I will give you" was the reply, "10 talents of gold, if you can teach me the art of forgetting." And many a man in the world's long story would have paid the same price and more, to have known how to forget, when something in his past life comes up before his mind with a leering grin, and he has said, as Milton put it—"Which way I fly is hell—myself am hell."

Christ did not leave His followers very much information about the after-life, but we get a glimpse in the Parable of Dives and Lazarus. The purpose of that story was not to condemn men of wealth to eternal perdition, but to show us that when we pass over the river of death, we carry with us for good or ill, the memory of the things done in the body.

This was nothing new. In Greek Mythology there was the belief that the last river the soul had to cross before entering the Elysian Fields of eternal bliss was Lethe—the river of forgetfulness. They realized that there could be no peace beyond, while the memory of life was still with them. It wasn't until that grim day of victory, when a Cross stood stark against an Eastern sky, and a broken voice cried "It is finished" that a new hope was given unto men.

The pages of literature are full of the stories of men whose memories have driven them to the point of death, when life became nothing but the haunting recollection of some foul deed. Time and time again they have returned to the scene of some murder, they have done and given themselves away, haunted by a memory which refused to give them peace.

Judas and Pilate.

In the long story of human history there are few which stand out with more tragic sharpness than the two cases in the New Testament.—Pontius Pilate, the Roman Governor of Jerusalem, and Judas Iscariot who betrayed his Master for thirty pieces of silver. How did memory deal with them when their work was done?

Soon after the crucifixion Pilate was recalled to Rome to answer charges against his unjust administration. He was banished into Gaul, and became the Governor of Marselles. And at night time when the mysterious dusk came up over the Midi hills, one can see him sitting in his villa porch fingering his weak chin with hands that shook, going over and over again the details of that day, in Jerusalem, which had darkened for ever the peace of his soul.

Paul was going through Greece and Rome like a flame, and Pilate wondered, "Could it be possible?—the Son of God?—Nonsense, a Jewish carpenter—of course He was. A crazy man, and yet—Is it possible? No,—and yet people had seen Him walk upon the water, and He had raised the dead,—that Centurion and his daughter what were their names? No! It's all a stupid Jewish legend! Yet—that day when He stood before me He seemed keyed up by some tremendous internal power. Would to the Gods, I had listened to that appeal of my wife. Light! Being light! he would scream, pale stricken in the dusk.

In the end, haunted and in despair he took poison and ended his life. But his name has lived for ever in the Creeds of the Christian Church "Christ suffered under Pontius Pilate."

Tragedy of Judas. What of Judas Iscariot? The most pitiable scene in all that tragedy of lost souls is that of the man who sold his Master, coming back to the men who had paid him, for that dastardly deed with the hell hounds of remorse hard upon his heels.

He had a look to frightened honest men as he says "Ye have tempted me to betray innocent blood." And few days before proceeding they laughed at the poor fool who north had served their purpose. "What is that to us—see thou to it," they replied. And he took the money with the blood upon it, flung it at their feet, and went out into the darkness—Yes—but where? Where can he hide from the memory of that night? Not that way—it leads to Gethsemane and in the moonlight there he had lost his soul. Not this way—it leads to Bethany, haunted by the past, self-accused and self-condemned, in the grim light of the morning his body was found hanging between earth and sky as though neither would receive him for their own.

We are not guilty in such measure as they were, but there are few of us who have not something imprinted on our memories we would give a lot to forget, something we are going to carry with us to the gates of death. At least we know this that there is nothing we have ever done in our worst moments that can separate us from the love of Christ. There is no depth that had not been plumbed by the Cross of Calvary.

But there are memories other than these. Memories of the days long gone by, of things long since forgotten that come back to us in some moment of our need. It may be the thought of a Mother somewhere in the years gone by and her prayers for the child she loved that to that character then being formed, none of the mud, but only the glory of life should cling.

The memory of some vision we once had,—perhaps at our Confirmation, of what we wanted to make of life, and we went out bravely to the battle with our shoulders square.

That Small Voice. When the gods of the flesh are calling sometimes, and the still small voice is dim, there comes the memory of the girl who is waiting for us, with a love that is tender and clean and true.

We are gathering together, day by day, the memories we are going to have to keep up company in the years to come, when the hot blood runs less swiftly through our veins with the lengthening shadows of human life. What are they going to be?

They will be of our own manufacture and fixing.

Why not make certain that they are ones of which we can be proud? The memory of deeds of kindness that helped others over the rough highroad of life,—of words once spoken that make some sad heart light,—of a right hand stretched out to another pilgrim who had stumbled in the mire or lost his way in the darkness,—the knowledge that we have pulled our weight on the side of the things that really matter and played the game of life with a straight bat.

VIENNA: THE LAST WALTZ

A DOOMED CITY IN A DOOMED LAND

FEARS MASKED BY GAITY

(By George Slocombe.)

POLITICALLY as well as geographically, Vienna lies at the cross-roads of Europe.

Since the Dark Ages the great trade routes from north to south and from east to west have intersected there.

The motley races of Europe and of Asia have fought in its streets. Christendom twice rolled back the hordes of Mahomet from under its walls, and gained thereby—not the least of its conquests—the forerunner of the modern Parisian café and the sweet blossoms of lilac-tree.

To this day the tongues of German, Slav and Magyar possess a common frontier in Vienna. It is the cultural centre of all Eastern Europe from the Baltic to the Black Sea. Its population of 1,886,000 makes it the fifth largest city in Europe and the thirteenth largest in the entire world.

Nowhere east of Paris is to be found so rich a collection of museums, palaces, art galleries, Gothic architecture and theatres, a populace so avid of pleasure and so lighthearted in seeking it.

And yet with all its legendary gaiety, most of which has returned to the streets and cabarets after years of melancholy absence, Vienna is a doomed city.

During the past few days it has been living on the edge of an abyss. Before it yawn the unknown perils of Nazism. Behind it rears the mountain-face of the Peace Treaties, the Protocol of 1922 (by which Austria received financial assistance on condition that she renounced the Anschluss, or administrative fusion, with Germany) and the recent Protocol of Lausanne, by which she renounced both Anschluss and Zollunion, or Customs union.

Menacing Neighbours. On either side the trembling capital is menaced by Italy, which has no objection to Nazism, but dislikes its inevitable sequel of the Anschluss; and by the Little Entente, which regards both eventualities with fear and suspicion.

And within the city the menace of civil war between the Hitlerites and Heimwehr, the Austrian counterparts of the German Nazis, and their late Nationalist rivals of the Stahlhelm, grows daily more imminent.

The victim of this predicament I have described as Vienna, but in reality it is all Austria. Whatever happens in Vienna, its fate cannot be separated from that of the other five million inhabitants of Austria.

If Vienna rises against itself, and the conflicting political elements in the city struggle for dominion, there is no imperial army to lay siege to the city as in 1848. The party that captures the capital conquers all political power in the country. That is why the secession of the Styrian branch of the Heimwehr has not materially weakened Chancellor Dollfuss, who is at the moment relying upon the disciplined members of the Fascist organisation to keep their Nazi rivals, and their common enemies the Communists, under control.

The Dictator. Chancellor Dollfuss and his allies the Heimwehr are, indeed, the only barriers between Austria and the gulf of Nazism.

Diminutive, dark-haired, snub-nosed, toothbrush-moustached, and only 42 years old, the successor of the prelate Seipel and the police-man Schober as the ruler of Austria, Engelbert Dollfuss has virtually established himself as Austria's Dictator.

The constitution has been in abeyance since the beginning of March, when the last parliamentary session ended. Dollfuss, fearful to call the Reichsrat together again, to avoid his own defeat, which would inevitably be followed by a dissolution, and a Nazi victory at the elections.

The Chancellor is fighting with Hitlerian Hitler's own weapons. When von Papen and Goering went to Rome recently to meet Mussolini—ostensibly to receive the Duce's congratulations on the Nazi victory in Germany, but actually to discuss with Mussolini and with the Pope the future relations of Germany with Austria—Dollfuss rushed to Italy. There he worked to such good effect on the traditionalist elements in the Italian Foreign Office that at an official banquet Mussolini significantly proposed a toast to the independence of Austria.

No more eloquent deterrent could be conceived to the aspirations of the pan-Germans in both Germany and Austria.

Nevertheless Mussolini must be aware, idealist as he is, that the only alternative to the Anschluss for Austria is membership of the Danubian Union. The political, financial and economical collapse of Vienna since the war is due to her isolation, by the artificial political boundaries drawn in the Peace Treaties, from her natural markets in the Danubian countries.

All the gold poured into Austria since the war by the League, the governments and the private banks of the Great Powers, has proved merely a stimulant injected into the veins of a moribund patient. The course of the disease has not been arrested, and cannot be, so long as the course of the malady is not removed.

Even the loan of £8½ millions pledged to Austria under the Protocol of Lausanne, and obtained only at the price of the political conditions I have mentioned, with, addition, the imposition on Austria of two financial controllers to be named by the League, is merely another sop to Cerberus.

So long as the Great Powers continue to bolster up a bankrupt State on sacks of gold, and ignore the general chaotic condition of South-Eastern Europe, they are themselves the strongest allies of Hitler in the Nazification of Austria.

At the moment the Lausanne loan is still withheld. Both

Gallons maturing—
Older and better than ever

Never was your White Horse as good or as old as it is to-day. Years ago, exceptionally heavy stocks of the finest whiskies were laid down to anticipate sales which the quality would justify. These stocks are now fully matured. The result is that WHITE HORSE is now older and better than ever before, excellent as it was in 1932 and preceding years. This advance in quality and age will be maintained. White Horse is now the equivalent of a fine liqueur.

WISE & OTHERWISE

REASON.

There was once a man who could truthfully say his wife never got on his nerves. He hadn't got any nerves; nor any wife.

PROOF.

A Dayswater woman keeps lizards as pets. A few of these creatures scattered about the room during a cocktail party will do much to convince guests of the potency of the refreshments provided.

For Women Must Sweep.

Mount Etna is reported to be throwing up clouds of dust. It sounds like spring-cleaning.

His Future Assured.

A Leeds boy aged eight is said to have had a passion for masquerading under assumed names ever since he could talk. So Governors of the Bank of England are born, not made.

Do It Yourself.

I read that it's very difficult to get waiters at nudist colonies. Now make your own joke about "None but the brave dare serve the bare."

THE EDITOR SPEAKS.

"It must be terrible," says a critic, "when a spring poet realises that he has lost the gift of writing verse." It is more terrible still when he doesn't realise it.

EXPLAINED.

The custom of tying old shoes to the back of the going-away car at a wedding seems to be dying out, says a writer. Most of the old shoes these days have feet in them.

HIGHWAYMEN.

Of a class of London schoolboys 80 per cent. said they wanted to be garage proprietors. Evidently Dick Turpin still has a big following of juvenile fans.

INDUCEMENT.

WIFE: Henry, you thought I didn't see you, but I did. You kissed the maid.

HUSBY: But, darling, you asked me to try to persuade her to stay another week.

WIFE: Oh, Henry, tell me quick—did she promise to stay?

DIFFERENT.

A clergyman takes orders before he enters the church.
An ordinary man takes orders after he comes out.

HOW IT'S DONE.

"Hallo, Jones! Got a new car?"
"Yes, I went into a garage to use the phone, and I didn't like to come away without buying something."

The Wedding Belles were Peeling. All the bridesmaids at a recent marriage ceremony were very sun-burnt.

CYNICAL.

Two can live as cheaply as one, but not as happily.

THE RIGHT TIME.

"I have only ten minutes and I hardly know where to begin," said the speaker.
"Begin at the ninth minute," shouted a bored man in the back of the audience.

"Military Fashions for Women." As you—wear!

Old Adage and New. Looking at some political speeches reminds you that there's many a true word spoken in jest and many a silly one spoken in sober earnestness.

TWO TOO LONG.

"Well, you're married now, aren't you?"
"Yes, I've been married two years. Two long years. Two long years too long."

WHAT HE ASKS FOR.

SHEIKY AL: I like kisses with a smack to them.
CAREFUL SAL: That's just what you'll get if you try to kiss me.

HITLER'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS

Overwhelming Flood
Of Presents.
INSTITUTIONS BENEFIT

Berlin. While all Germany celebrated Chancellor Hitler's 44th birthday with open-air demonstrations and a display of flags, Adolf Hitler himself was spending the day with a few intimate friends far away from noisy cities, high up in the Bavarian mountains, in his summer lodge near Berchtesgaden.

Those who had no opportunity of celebrating the day were the servants of the Chancellery, for never within their memory has there been such an overwhelming flood of presents as were delivered at Hitler's official residence in Berlin.

Two thousand telegrams had been received before noon, while the Chancellery telephonists never had a minute's respite. Hindenburg used to receive presents by the basketful, but Hitler's came in cartloads—enough to furnish several homes if he wanted to marry.

Valuable porcelains, rugs, pictures, bronzes, silks, lacers and clocks, about 150 sofa cushions, carvings and curiosities, a cake weighing 170 pounds, several hundredweights of books, including 20 costly bibles, dogs, canaries, parrots and even a saddle horse were delivered during the day. Marzipan, hams and other dainties were among the presents; as were also cartloads of flowers from all corners of the Reich. The Chancellor's housekeeper was at his wit's end to find a place for all the gifts.

Hitler is neither a horseman, nor a smoker, nor does he like wines, sausages and sweets. So charitable institutions are to share the spoils of all these birthday presents.—Reuter.

2,000 PLANS TO SAVE U.S.

Miss Frances Perkins' Views.

PUBLIC WORKS SCHEME

Washington, D.C. More than 2,000 plans have poured in upon Miss Frances Perkins, U.S. Secretary of Labour and first American Woman Cabinet Minister, from as many citizens anxious to help the nation since she took office.

Probably every person in official life in Washington has had an avalanche of such plans over a period of several depression years, but it remained for the statist-minded Miss Perkins to assemble all that arrived in a single book-case and classify its contents.

"The kind of thinking that is going on in America today is very interesting," she said of this type of arriving mail-matter.

"Some are pretty wild, but I find grains of truth in them."
Her own view on public works was that "$2,000,000,000 or $3,000,000,000 worth of projects could be put under way in four or five months in Federal, State and County projects, not "monumental" works, but of a nature to raise the American standard of living, by means of more roads, sewerage systems, bathrooms, low cost-houses, and telephone and light poles leading to farm dwellings.—Reuter.

BAIT FOR BRITISH HOLIDAY-MAKERS.

Riviera's Bid For Tourist Trade.

Nice. Third-class sleeping cars have made their appearance on the express trains running between Paris and the Riviera.

Their inclusion will reduce the cost of the journey to the Riviera very considerably and it is hoped that many British tourists will now take advantage of the innovation.

For many years only first-class passengers to and from the Riviera could obtain sleeping accommodation and prices were naturally rather high.

A few years ago, yielding to popular demand, the French railway companies put on a service of second-class sleepers.

Now they are arranging comfortable nights in the train for third-class passengers too.—Reuter.

VIENNA: THE LAST WALTZ

Socialists and Nazis in Austria unite, although for different reasons in demanding its rejection.

Coup d'Etat Danger.

The Government parties in Austria, who secured the ratification of the loan by a narrow majority of two votes, are urging that the $2½ millions should be promptly handed over, and plead

the imminent danger of a Nazi coup d'etat as justification. The French Government, fearing that a

Nazi victory in Austria is sooner or later inevitable, prefers to await developments.

The British Government apparently pins its faith to the World

Economic Conference. Italy still opposes both the formation of a

Danubian Union and the Anschluss. France, although favourable to the former, insists that an

Anschluss between Germany and

Austria means another European war.

And meanwhile, ringed by both her friends and her enemies, abandoned by the twentieth century

descendants of those cynical statesmen who danced in her thousand ballrooms while Napoleon faced alone the bitterness of exile in the South Atlantic,

Vienna the doomed stares hopelessly at the spectre of civil war.

MACAO RACE MEETING THIS AFTERNOON

Termination Of First Half Of Season.

PONIES AND RIDERS DRAWN FROM A HAT

The last race meeting of the first half of the season will be staged at Macao to-day when three official races in a card of seven events will be decided.

Though the fields are likely to be on the small side and many of the leading jockeys are not making the trip, keen racing is assured. In the first race of the afternoon a novel procedure is to be adopted. The names of the ponies and the lady riders will be drawn from a hat. This makes the selection of winners much more difficult but the old maxim of a good pony making a good jockey should substantiate itself in this case.

The programme provides two ladies' races, two events for members of the Machine Gun Troop, and two races for Novice jockeys in addition to the Mid-Summer Handicap, the main event. The s.s. Sui Tai leaves Hong Kong for Macao at 9 a.m. and will leave Macao at 6 p.m. The excursion fare is $4.00 (return) and $2.50 (single).

tively by touches, while S. Fowler and Mitchell tied for third place.

Canton Visitor Outstanding.

In the water polo game Schreuder, the "Y" first team skipper again shone at the centre forward position while B. Rasmussen, one of the "Ys" best players and a visitor to the Colony from Canton, was equally outstanding.

Schreuder opened the scoring with a tap, diverting a ball from Campbell past the unsuspecting Angus in goal.

A few minutes later Donn's team equalised when both Campbell and Schreuder were ordered out of the water for "drifting" and "infringing inside the two yard mark," respectively. Sutherland scoring from close in with a back hand. Schreuder added two more goals with well-timed shots before the interval.

Changing over, Donn's team attacked in the deep end, Fowler scoring from the swim up.

After a series of infringements by both sides Fullager added Schreuder's team's fourth goal with a well directed shot.

The following were the teams: Donn's Team:—H. Angus, A. S. C. Donn and D. Rasmussen; E. Rallion; C. Aris, G. Fowler and D. Sutherland. Schreuder's Team:—S. Fowler; H. Lange and K. Jenner; E. Fullager, W. Kerr, W. Schreuder and W. Campbell. Referee:—R. Goldman.

About 50 couples later danced until 12.30 a.m. in the West Lounge to the strains of Mickey's Melody Makers.

GOODMAN'S CARD OF 66 IN U.S. OPEN

Tommy Armour Led By 2 Strokes.

SARAZEN DISAPPOINTS

Glenville, Saturday.
Sensation has followed sensation in the U.S. Open Golf Championship. Yesterday Frank Goodman, of Omaha, Nebraska, returned a card of 66 in the Second Round to shatter Tommy Armour's amazing record of 68.

This card equals the record in the history of the U.S. Open. Tommy Armour, the former Scot and British Open champion, did not reproduce the form he displayed in the First Round, but his 75 placed him only two strokes behind Goodman for second place.

Joe Kirkwood, who was to have visited Hong Kong last month, is third with an aggregate of 144. He shot a 70 yesterday.

Gene Sarazen, the holder, again failed to give of his best, returning a card of 77 to aggregate 151. Walter Hagen returned a score of 149 for the two days.

George Von Elm, the "big money" golfer and U.S. Ryder Cup player, failed to qualify with 80+78=158 and Dudley, with 81+81=162, also failed.—Reuter.

The leaders in the qualifying round of 156 were:
Jack Goodman 75+66 141
Tommy Armour 68+75 143
Joe Kirkwood 74+70 144
—Reuter.

HONG KONG AMERICANS TRIUMPH

Wright was caught in the outfield, thus spoiling Terry Leonard's chance of scoring from the third base, to whence he had "stolen."

The Chinese made a great effort in the sixth innings, and with two men on bases they looked like levelling the score. Matty Chang, however, hit out to be caught brilliantly by David Leonard.

In the sixth innings of the Club, Shank hit a fine outfield ball, and Gilson, kept up the good work by sending the ball past the right fielders. This allowed Heubner and Shank, who were on bases, to romp home to add two more to the score. Barros was caught, making the third victim, and the team was dismissed.

In the seventh and final innings, the Chinese scored only one run when Fong hit out to bring E. Chang home. Billy Chang was then run out to finish the game.

The following was the line up:
South China: Americans
Matty Chang c Ben Zafra
Ed. Chang p Al Huebner

B. Chang 2b Barros

MOTORING

British Cars Capture Foreign Markets

Holland Is A Valuable Customer

SPAIN NOW BUYING BRITISH

EUROPE is, of course, a very big car market and the number of American cars that have been selling there, excluding Great Britain has been enormous until the last 12 months.

American factories have spent hundreds of thousands of pounds in advertising, and have put up their own assembly plants and really spent tremendous sums in securing this Continental business.

The last 12 months, however, have seen the British manufacturer make great progress in these markets and in many ways the Singer Company is now leading British manufacturers in this development on the Continent.

"We have realised," writes a representative of Singer and Co. Ltd., "that in all parts of the world, the demand is for economic motoring, and our 'Nine' appeals more than the real baby cars, because it does represent economical motoring and at the same time offers comfortable motoring for four people."

"The British manufacturer has always been well in the front in the development of light cars so that this demand for economy is a great help, particularly since England came off the gold standard, and we have not been slow to seize the opportunity.

Cars Now Proved.

"The old accusation of British manufacturers trying to sell goods off catalogues cannot be made against this Company because we have not only sent our representatives, but have registered cars and taken them over on customs permits and driven them under most severe conditions, proving that they will stand up to the climatic and road conditions applicable to each individual country."

"Added to this we have exhibited at the prominent Exhibitions, including the British Exhibition at Copenhagen, the Brussels Salon, and now at the Amsterdam Show, in a few weeks time we shall also be exhibiting at Cairo."

Holland Valuable Market.

"One of the most valuable markets in Europe is undoubtedly Holland and yet American and Continental manufacturers have been so well established there since the war that it has been very difficult for us to get a foot-hold, but recently we did tackle this market seriously, went over with demonstration cars, and linked up with the finest distributing organization in that territory, which had formerly been concentrating on Packard, Nash, International Trucks and Harley-Davidson motor-cycles."

"Messrs. Englebert, the firm in question, realised that they must have a light car and practically every English manufacturer was anxious to secure their assistance. It is, therefore, a tribute that of all the propositions put before them, the Singer was made their first choice and the result has been beyond our most hopeful expectations; within a matter of 6 or 7 weeks we have already shipped over 150 cars to what is to us an entirely new market."

Spain Buys British.

"Spain again is a territory where we are doing remarkable business. For various reasons the Americans, who really did a wonderful business in Spain, have antagonised the Spanish people, and in turning to other manufacturing countries for their requirements, they have decided England is a good customer and it would pay them economically to consider buying British."

"Further, taxation and the increased price of petrol etc., again makes the Spanish motorists think of economy, and our distributor is, therefore, doing a remarkable business for us. We have shipped something like 120 cars there in less than 2 months."

"In Denmark, Belgium and Norway we are also doing excellent business."

BRITISH BUSES FOR MADRID.

Madrid. After testing Two double-decker motor omnibuses from London, the municipal authorities of Madrid have decided to start a regular bus service in the capital.

Tea lines will immediately start working, the London type of omnibus being used for the purpose. The authorities will run the service in cooperation with the tramway company.—Reuter.

CRUELTY TO A MUI-TSAL.

$200 Fine Imposed In Police Court.

Kwan Sze-to of No. 110 First Street first floor, was yesterday morning fined $200 or default two months' hard labour by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy, for ill-treating a mui-tsai, Ko Ta-ta, aged 10.

Sub-Inspector Fraser of the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs, said that on information received, the premises of the defendant were inspected and the Mui-tsai was found in the kitchen washing a huge pile of clothing.

Ko Ta-ta, the mui-tsai was examined before the defendant, 34 cane marks being found all over her body. She was later sent to be medically examined.

Mr. Schofield: "The doctor is of the opinion that the marks on the child's body amount to cruelty. I do not think that $100 is an adequate fine and therefore fine the defendant $200."

TWO BANISHEES GAOLED.

Returned Too Soon.

Yeung Sze, a Chinese male who was banished for 10 years in April of 1922, and who was arrested in Main Street, Shaikwan on Friday, was yesterday morning sentenced to six months' hard labour by Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy.

Sin Man, another banishee, was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour for returning 15 days too soon. The accused was banished on June 24, 1923 for 10 years and was arrested on Friday evening on information received outside No. 46 Connaught Road West.

KUT-O MURDER SUSPECTED.

Police Detain Man And Woman.

The dead body of Teim Shui-lim, 27, a Chinese fisherman, was found by his brother late on Friday night on the foreshore of Kut-O, Shat-tai-kok, the deceased having his ears and mouth slashed, and numerous bodily wounds, recently made.

The Police suspect murder and have detained a Chinese man and woman.

Tom Walls

Racehorse Owner and Actor-Manager

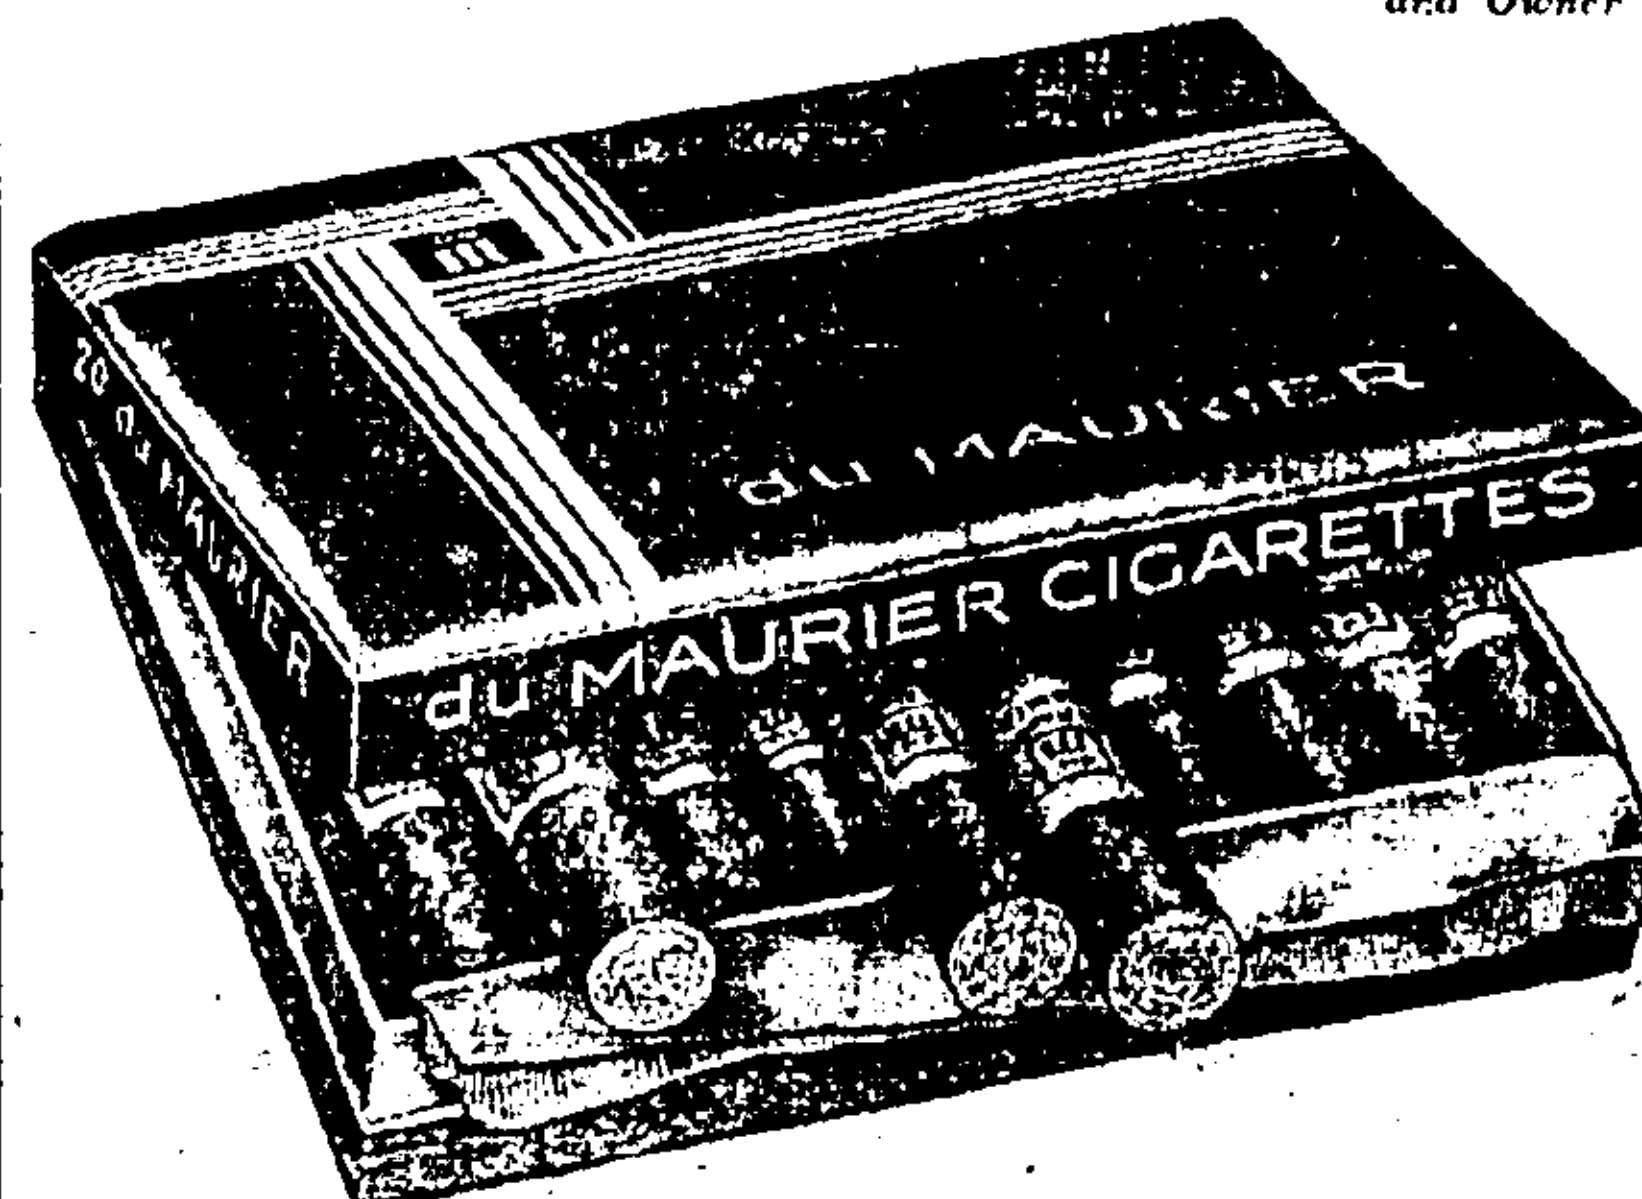

says 'Filter tip' beats 'Smoker's throat'

He writes:

"It is an exciting moment when your horse is lined up for the start of a big race. The right moment for the right cigarette—du Maurier, of course, because their flavour is excellent and their filter tips stop any chance of 'smoker's throat'."

TOM WALLS
The celebrated Stage and Film Actor, Race-horse Trainer and Owner of the Derby Winner, "April 6th."

YOU, TOO, will find that the du Maurier filter tip is the most effective means of preventing throat irritation and cough. It protects the lips and teeth from stain. It retains irritant "acrids," thereby preventing smoker's throat. It collects tobacco tar, thus guarding physical fitness. It stops bits of tobacco getting into the mouth. It avoids burning the tongue. It makes the smoke delightfully sweet and cool, bringing out the flavour. It gives a cleaner, healthier and more satisfying smoke.

Concerning du Maurier Virginia The Lancet (January 24th, 1931—page 194) writes: We find these cigarettes to be cooler and less irritating to the mucous membrane than ordinary cigarettes of good quality without the filter tip.

"STYLE," as applied to the Packard, has always meant something more.

Associated with it, logically and distinctively, is the other important word, "enduring"—a Packard characteristic for a third of a century.

So gradually and correctly has Packard-style evolved—like the slow unfolding of a beautiful flower—it has never been at the mercy of that capricious mood which too often alienates to-morrow's style from that of to-day.

"SYMPHONY OF SIX MILLION" HAILED ONE OF YEAR'S OUTSTANDING HITS

Touching the heart strings with its deep pathos and its rendering of a sublime romance, an exceptionally fine picture opened at the Central Theatre yesterday.

The film is RKO Radio Pictures'
"Symphony of Six Million", co-featuring Ricardo Cortez and Irene Dunn in a story of deep human feeling by Fannie Hurst.

Like most of Miss Hurst's tales
it is a sympathetic saga focussed on the life of two young people who are integral parts of a dominant background of traditions and economic strictures.

Vaguely reminiscent of "Huma-resque"—one of the screen's indisputed classics from the pen of this eminent authoress—the film paints in bold, dramatic colours as it tells the poignant story of a Ghetto Doctor's love for a teacher of the slums.

Its theme is based on the inherent idealism of man and the eternal quest for romance of woman. It starts with a boy in the slums who becomes a famous doctor despite social and economic barriers.

It shows him as a dreamer, wishing only to heal the sick, never caring whether he is paid. He is forced by his ambitious family to move to a Park Avenue office where the rich live. There he makes money and becomes the most noted surgeon of his city. But he has lost the respect of the slums in the quest of money.

In a tragically beautiful scene
Cortez falls in an operation upon his aged father and his faith in himself wrecks, he abandons his doctorate and hides from the world until he is recalled by Jessica (Irene Dunn).

The film brings a changed Cortez to audiences that have seen him during the past few years in villanous roles. The doctor is a sympathetic character and Cortez plays the role with subdued abradings and a vast amount of sympathy. Indisputably, it is the best thing that he has done to-date. Miss Dunn, similarly, plays her part of the teacher with considerably artistry and feeling.

The rest of the cast was selected with rare good judgment. Anna
Appel, formerly of the Yiddish Art
Theatre, plays the role of Cortez mother; Gregory Ratoff, erstwhile star of the Moscow Art Theatre, is a believable Jewish father. Others of note are Noel Madison, Lita Chevret and Helen Freeman.

NO DANGER FROM VESUVIUS

Grossly - Exaggerated
Reports.

ITALIAN CONSUL RECEIVES
CABLED ADVICE

Cabled reports received here during the week stressing the new danger from the active volcano, Mount Vesuvius, have been grossly exaggerated, according to a statement forwarded to the Sunday Herald, yesterday from the Italian Consul-General in Hong Kong, Comm. A. Bianconi.

Messages received from Reuter stated that the latest eruption of Vesuvius had threatened the villages of Terzigno, causing the residents to abandon their homes in panic.

Acting on the authority of official telegrams, Comm. Bianconi states that the eruptions are merely the normal activity of the volcano at this time of the year. The molten lava is not overflowing down the mountain-side, and is not likely to cause any danger for the inhabitants of the surrounding village or for the numerous tourists.

DR. E. J. DILLON'S DEATH.

A Well-Known Foreign Correspondent.

Barcelona, Yesterday.
The death occurred here yesterday of Dr. Emile Joseph Dillon, correspondent of the London "Daily Telegraph." — Reuter.

Born in Ireland, Dr. Dillon was educated on the continent, and was Foreign Editor of the Odessa Messenger in 1888. He was in China in 1900. A well-known authority on European matters, Dr. Dillon has written many books, several dealing with Russia.

MATTEN MAKES GOOD PROGRESS

damaged plane, and he resumed his flight early on Friday morning, arriving without further incident at Krasnoyarsk the same day.

Lieut. Matten's flight has been fraught with danger since he left New York. The flight across the Atlantic was perilous in the extreme, and for a time the flier was in grave danger due to the cracking of one of the wings of the Lockheed machine "Century of Progress," under the strain of a thick coating of ice.

He was forced to give so much attention to the mere flying of the aeroplane, that he lost his bearings.

It was his original intention to make direct from Newfoundland to Berlin, but owing to adverse conditions he decided to try for Paris. He was forced to alter his course northward owing to an "ice area." He passed through fog and storms and did not sight a single ship during his Atlantic crossing.

Further obstacles confronted the flier when the Soviet authorities refused to grant him permission to fly via Yakutsk, his present route being farther south than the "short cut."

Lieut. Matten planned to fly round the world in about six days, hoping to beat the time of 8 days, 15 hours, 51 minutes set in 1931 by Wiley Post and Frank Gatty.

THE BABES IN THE BED

Oakland, California.
Early morning shoppers here were surprised at the sight of two small boys tucked under the covers in a department store's bedroom set display.

The boys, aged seven and four respectively, explained to a policeman that they became lost the night before and wandered into the store. Locked in at closing time, they looked around. They were tired. There was a bed, and they just tumbled into it. — Reuter.

FRENCH ECONOMIC POLICY

FOUR POWER PACT DEFENDED

MISUNDERSTANDINGS END BETWEEN FRANCE AND ITALY

PARIS, YESTERDAY.
A DETERMINATION TO DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO MAKE THE WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE A SUCCESS, WAS YESTERDAY EXPRESSED BY THE FRENCH PREMIER, M. DALADIER, IN THE ASSEMBLY. HE SAID THAT FRANCE, IN HER POLICY REGARDING THE CONFERENCE, DID NOT CONSIDER THAT THE MANIPULATION OF GOLD WOULD SOLVE THE CURRENCY PROBLEMS. COUNTRIES OFF THE GOLD STANDARD MUST FIRST AGREE UPON STABILISATION.

Regarding the movement to raise world prices, France would defend the interest of the French farmers by advocating a policy of concerted production between producers of all countries. France would adhere to a 40-hour week if all the great Powers followed suit. France supported a programme of Public Works to remedy unemployment.

M. Daladier stoutly defended the Four Power Pact as advantageous to both France and the cause of peace. He paid tribute to Signor Mussolini for his conduct of the negotiations, and expressed satisfaction at the end of the misunderstandings that had so long separated the two great Latin nations.

THERE WAS NO LONGER ANY QUESTION OF GERMANY'S RE-ARMAMENT, M. DALADIER SAID. — REUTER.

DELEGATES ASSEMBLING IN LONDON

Preparations Well Advanced.

WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE OPENS ON MONDAY

London, Yesterday.
Preparations are well advanced for the opening of the World Economic Conference at the Royal Geographical Museum, South Kensington, which is not yet out of the builders' hands.

Representatives of nearly 70 nations from all ends of the earth are now assembling in London. His Majesty the King will open the Conference on Monday, with a seven-minute speech which will be broadcast throughout the world.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's Presidential address will follow. The opening ceremony will be short, and His Majesty will leave immediately after his speech of welcome.

The first few days of the Conference will be occupied in speeches by the leaders of the 66 delegations, who will outline the causes of the world depression and suggest remedies for restoring trade.

War debts will not be discussed at the Conference, but it is anticipated that commissions will be set up to deal with tariffs and quotas and other obstacles to trade and also currency stability, gold standard and exchange restrictions.

A talking picture record of the plenary session of the Conference will be made.

GERMAN REPRESENTATIVES.
Many of the delegations are already in London, including the Chinese delegation headed by the Finance Minister, Mr. T. V. Soong, and the Japanese delegation, headed by Viscount K. Ishii.

Several European delegations, including the German representatives, will arrive during the week-end.

The official German delegation is as follows:—
Baron Von Neurath, Foreign Minister.

Count Schwerin von Krosigk, Finance Minister.

Dr. Hugenberg, Minister of Economics.

Dr. Schacht, President of the Reichsbank.

Herr Krogmann, Lord Mayor of Hamburg.

Herr Wilhelm Keppler, the well-known engineer.

Herr von Hoersch, German Ambassador to the Court of St. James.

FRENCH TARIFF PROPOSALS

Retaliation Against Germany.

GOVERNMENT RECEIVES VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Paris, Yesterday.

As a prelude to the tariff discussions at the World Economic Conference, the French Government yesterday tabled Bills in the Chamber of Deputies, authorising, firstly, customs surtaxes as a reprisal to measures taken by foreign Governments which are proving injurious to French trade, and secondly, new tariffs for goods hitherto subject to any quota system which has been removed or modified.

It was suggested last night that France intends to retaliate against the German transfer moratorium, by raising her tariff wall.

Following interpellations on France's foreign policy, a resolution involving a question of confidence was put by M. Herriot, former Premier.

An amendment to the effect that the Government should not sign a pact in which the Little Entente, Belgium and Poland had not participated, was rejected by 347 votes to 245.

The voting figures indicate the support M. Daladier, the Premier will receive when he asks for support on his general policy. — Reuter.

Foreign Policy Approved.

DECISIVE MAJORITY FOR M. DALADIER.

Paris, Later.

MR. EUGENE CHEN IN COLONY

Denies Report Of Tokyo Visit.

"MILITARY GANGSTERS"
CONTROL JAPAN

Interviewed here by Reuter yesterday Mr. Eugene Chen, who is on a visit to Hong Kong with Madame Chen, categorically denied the report that he was being sent on a secret mission to Japan.

"Japan is to-day," he stated, "in the hands of military gangsters, who are destroying their country morally in the eyes of the world."

"And because this is an epoch of revolutionary changes, the inevitable day of punishment may come sooner than is thought by a people who hold to the ancient faith in brute force."

"There is no need," he added, "of any Chinese mission of any sort to Japan as long as Japanese are dug in even an inch of Chinese soil." — Reuter.

JAPAN'S BOYCOTT OF INDIA

Cotton Traders Support
Spinners.

RETALIATION MEASURES

Tokyo, Yesterday.
The Conference of Japanese Cotton Traders yesterday decided to support the spinners' boycott against India.

The "Big Five" cotton mills represented on the Federation Committee yesterday decided to immediately carry out Thursday's decision to boycott Indian raw cotton, although the decision has to be submitted to a plenary session of the Federation on June 13 for confirmation.

Japanese cotton mills in China and Manchukuo are expected to join in the boycott. — Reuter.

THE BOYCOTT SUBSIDING?

Japan Claims Better
Trade With China.

Tokyo, Yesterday.
At the Cabinet Meeting yesterday, the Japanese Foreign Minister, reported a favourable turn in Japan's trade with China, which he ascribed to the subsidence of anti-Japanese agitation in various parts of China, especially in Canton. — Reuter.
